“ I knew Alex in Hungary, in the 1960's, when both of us were young engineers there.

He was a very pleasant, smiling person, with great technical knowledge and keen interest. I understand from friends that he became a highly respected engineer in Canada. I send my sincere condolences and deepest sympathy to the entire family of Alex, and wish the best to the family in these trying and sad times. -- Stephen Sebo, Columbus, Ohio

“ When we lose a loved one here on earth, we gain an angel to watch over us. Words seem inadequate to express that sadness that I feel to hear about the passing of your father. May the love of your family surround your pain and loss. Condolences to you and your family.

“ I'm so thankful and blessed to have had the opportunity to know Alex. He was one of the most intriguing and fascinating people I have met. I have many fond memories of great conversations with him. He could converse on so many subjects, and challenge my thinking and emotions on so many levels. A gentleman and a scholar.

Your loss is a great one. My deepest sympathies to all of you at this time.

“ I met Alexander in the summer of 1974 as we began the engineering of a high voltage transmission system in Iraq. I was with Acres International Engineering firm at the time. Alex and I shared many views in the planning and execution of the project, and shortly after the completion of the project Alex moved to Canada to work with Acres. He was an outstanding engineer whose views were always solicited and respected. We have continued to keep in touch after our retirement. This is something I shall really miss.

My deepest condolences to all the Csida family. Sincerely, Matthew Stoddart
