“ *To Andrea and Paul, my condolences on the passing of your husband and father.
On a personal level I will always remember Alin as a trustworthy friend, full of kindness and courage. I will miss our chats about history and politics but it was easy to talk with him about anything. I learned a lot from Alin at a professional level. There wasn't anything in our line of business that Alin couldn't resolve. It gave me so much confidence when he was in my team. Gone too soon, he will be deeply missed!*

“ I remember meeting Alin as a young engineering student at my first job in the industry as an intern. Alin was incredibly encouraging, made me like an appreciated member of the team even at the very beginning and that someone was looking out for me. I will always remember as Alin as a kind soul who would light up telling stories of his son and family.

Sending warm thoughts to Alin's family.

“ I remember when I met Alin back in 2006- he had just arrived in London,UK. He spoke very little English and was mainly in listening mode for the first few weeks. We sometimes shared the ride home in the evening from Thames Water's Esher office and we had discussions about England and this new country of arrival for him. This was my second time in the UK, and I shared with him my memories when I arrived in 2003 first. He was in the same situation as I was back then and so I gave him my story and how to overcome the language barrier and to have trust in your abilities. That was about three months before he wrote his first English poem...

That was nice Oliver, but I have to make a correction. Alin wrote his first poem in English in 2020, way long after he helped you to move from UK to CH2 Canada.
