

Mrs. Anna Eugenie Fletcher

December 18, 2015

FLETCHER, Anna Eugenie (nee Christiani) – passed away on Friday 18th December 2015 at the Rouge Valley Centenary Hospital in Toronto at the age of 95 years.

A consummate mother and homemaker, Eugenie was dedicated to a music career teaching piano to school aged children. She also loved cooking and gardening. Eugenie had an unwavering Christian faith.

Eugenie was predeceased by her loving husband of 49 years, James W. Fletcher. Loving mother to Tom (Linda) of Aurora and John (Annie) of Toronto. Dear grandmother to Jennifer, Susan and Stephanie. Eugenie was born on 7th August 1920 in London, ON, where she lived her life until the last 4 years with her son John. The daughter of Arnold Louis Christiani and Susan Evelyn Christiani (nee Williams), Eugenie was predeceased by her sisters Lenore Wilson and Marion Orr, and her brothers David, Evan and Jack. She leaves behind older sister Evelyn Lockwood of London, ON and younger brother Robert of Kingston, ON. She will be missed by many nieces and nephews. At this time a family gathering has not been confirmed. In lieu of flowers, memorial donations may be made to The Salvation Army and/ or random acts of kindness would be appreciated.

Tribute Wall

BW

“ To Tom and John Fletcher: Just now, digging through my piano bench, I came across my book filled with your Mom's handwriting from when she taught me piano in the 1970s. I've never forgotten Mrs. Fletcher; she was such a kind and patient teacher even when I would lie through my teeth (as a teenager) swearing that I had practiced 2 hours a day, really!! Anyway, it occurred to me to "google" your Mom's name, and I am sorry to learn of her passing, and also of your dad, who taught me theory with equal patience. I still use the approach your Mom taught when I practice (a little more regularly now!) and so I just wanted to send you a note to say that I'm sorry for your loss, and that I remember both your parents with fondness. All the best, Barbara Warren.

---

Barbara Warren - April 14, 2022 at 10:36 PM