

Anne McAllister

March 25, 2026

Anne “Ann” McAllister passed away peacefully, leaving behind a legacy of love, strength, and family. She will be deeply missed by all who knew her.

Ann was a devoted mother and grandmother. She is survived by her two loving daughters, Jane McAllister and Allison Sweeney, and her 8 grandchildren and her 7 great grandchildren, all of whom were a central part of her life. She was predeceased by her two sons, Andrew McAllister and Ian Brown, whom she carried in her heart always.

Ann was known for her caring nature, her cheeky sense of humour and the deep love she had for her family. She found joy in the simple things in life — watching her favorite TV shows, going for walks, listening to music, and dancing. Those moments brought her happiness and are memories her family will hold onto forever.

In her later years, Ann faced illness with quiet strength. Over the past four years, her health declined, but her love for her family never wavered.

Her home and heart were always open, and she created lasting memories with those closest to her. Her strength through life’s challenges and her dedication to her family will never be forgotten.

She leaves behind a family who will continue to honor her memory and carry forward the love she gave so freely.

Ann will be forever remembered and dearly missed.

“ Nana your strength will not be forgotten. Put up one hell of a fight and were always laughing and joking and enjoying yourself which gave us all the ability to get so many unforgettable memories and laughs
I will always miss you and always love you nana.
We will always remember the good you brought to so many.
I hope you're dancing around and having tea with your boys again.
💕💕
