“ Barry and I taught together at various points over the last 9 years at Centennial and George Brown Colleges in Toronto, Ontario. I'm shocked to hear about his sudden death. He was a class act. A true professional with a quick wit, a passion for teaching, and possessing a heart of gold. I hadn't seen him in some time and am truly sad to hear of his sudden passing. My sympathies and condolences to his family and friends, he will be sorely missed by his colleagues and friends at the various colleges at which he had taught.

“ Dear Ditto Family,

Barry was a former client and friend of mine for a few years back in 2001 or so when we both worked at the City of Toronto. At that time, Barry was working in the Affordable Housing/SCIPi department and I was his legal counsel on various problem files he would bring to me. To make a long story short, Barry listened well, was empathetic and very intelligent, a real gentleman and a pleasure with whom to work.

I did not know Barry had passed away until recently when someone who know Barry well sent me an email - unfortunately, my computer mal-functioned and I lost the name and contact particulars of this gentleman, a person who obviously cared about and respected Barry very much.

I just wish to pass on my deepest regrets and to tell you how very much I admired and respected, Barry. Quite honestly, there are not very many jewels like Barry.

Sincerely,

Tom Rock
