“Deb had/has a spiritual connection with cardinals, whenever she wanted a sign from her mom a cardinal would magically appear. So when my trailer showed up beside her’s in 2008 at the trailer park in Buckhorn, with a stain-glass cardinal hung from my window in view from her kitchen window, she knew from that point on we’d have a special connection, and that we did. We shared many of the same interests - took numerous spiritual and healing courses together, road trips to many new age stores and gem/mineral shows; I will truly miss these times together, her laughter, her spirit, her beautiful energy. And then there’s The Shopping Channel (TSC) she introduced me to, where she bought many of her precious stone jewelry, her favourite - Himalayan Gems.... OMG, she got me hooked. Many a conversation on the TSC specials, new items, and of course our “purchases”. I will miss those late-night calls – “quick, turn on the channel and check out these gems”.

Deb, the next time I spend money on jewelry from TSC, I will be blaming you ... but, whenever I see a cardinal, I will surely be thinking of you with smiles.

Miss you, love Chris

“ To my loving cousin Deb who was also my big sister I wish you nothing but peace & joy in the fact of knowing that now you are in a better place and free of pain and suffering. Deb you have always been the one person that I could always turn to in good times and bad, happy and sad I always knew that I had my big sister to talk to. People would always ask how we were always able to talk on the phone for so long each and every night but it never mattered what we were talking about just that we were able to have that time together and that is what was special and one thing i will always cherish. You were always a very caring, selfless compassionate loving person it was always everyone first Deb second and that is what made you the very special person that you were. I Love you Deb and will miss our time together and until we meet again may you enjoy nothing but peace and contentment. Your Cousin and Sister Dorothy

“ My condolences to Deb's family and friends. To know her was to love her, and I was lucky enough to have called her my friend. Although she will be sadly missed on the earth plane I am sure Veneilia will light up the spirit world with her charm and humor. Until we meet again, and not doubt we will....much love Diane (Silver Moss)

“ Hi John, this is Louis Chan; I am very sorry for your lost. I am sad too and sad for you and your family. Please take care of yourself and take care of yourself because of Deborah. I went through almost the same path as you in 2011 and 2015/2016 taking care of my wife. I worked at the same time and I did not even take a day off. I know it is very very difficult for you and your family. I have confidence that you know what to do and move on. I understand and it will take time for all of us to heal - please take your time.

I am sad.

You take care!

“ The price to pay for having someone special touch your life is the sadness you feel when they're gone. I've known Deb for 25 years and we've worked together every day for the last 10 years. Deb taught me to crochet, and always shared her love of crafts. I always looked forward to a set of towels or one of her beautiful scarves....she helped me study for my citizenship test every day at lunch for weeks. It's been hard walking by her empty desk every day. I know at work someone else will take her place, but she will always have a place in my heart. Rest in peace my friend. You will be dearly missed.

“ A friend to all she met, a genuine, down to earth and most caring person and ever so brave to take on this cancer yet again. Your stories will be missed, your laughter, quick wit and memory will never cease to amaze me. You selfishly gave to others in need, you cared for family beyond. 39 years and I can truly say and did say 'I Love You' . My life will be forever missing a piece but I know that you are without pain, stress and by your Mom and Grandmothers side watching over us. I will think of you always and when I see a cardinal in my backyard, I know it is you coming for a visit and I'll say hello Deb. Love you always Lori
