“ How lucky we were to have had that last weekend with you. Your smiling face while waiting at the front door for your sons truck (and the jokes about when you saw we were driving mine;) is the one I will always remember of you . The warm hug that you gave that I never fathomed would be the last.... I wish we could have had more opportunities for many more of those. I will forever be grateful for your kind and warm eyes, those that I see everytime I look into your sons. The warm and welcoming hugs that I am now lucky enough to embrace from each of your children and Jan as family. Thank you for giving me 3 more sisters and another brother. I feel forever blessed that we shared the same love for candy, and especially that you shared with me your secret stash in the candy drawer;) Local 1794 will forever have a special place in my heart, not only for their amazing chicken wings, but also knowing that we shared a very quick and very real respect for those chicken wings;) (and I'm glad you got the last one:p) but more so for their ability to make you the perfect "normal" ceasar.....our luck at Woodbine was TERRIBLE, so I trust you're hitting all the jackpots up there;) Most of all, thank you making and helping to raise the man of my dreams.... Rest easy "dad" ;) I'm gonna learn to like clamato for you.....;) xoxoxoxo

“ For all my loving children,

My dearest Ed,

We were so young starting our lives together. Together we were going to change the world! Life was full of hope and love, 300 acres of farm, horses, fishing, cottages under the trees with beach fronts.... As it was the Universe decided we would do it separately in our own ways.

I must say my best life experience was raising our 5 beautiful children Jamie, Laura, Lissa, Christopher, Teresa. They are the most brilliant, innovative, kindhearted, loving and amazing people! In turn, they are carrying on our dreams of changing the world in their own unique way, sharing with our grandchildren Avah, Alivah, Linkyn, Mckinnley, Sawyer, Lilyan, Reid, Ethan and Sophia. How cool is that! For this I have always loved you.

*My heart is saddened for the sudden loss of a man who had always hope, laughter, love and fishing to share with all those he loved.
Love Always, Tess*
