

Geoffrey Calvin Pepler

November 4, 2021

Geoffrey Calvin Pepler

March 25, 1955 - November 4, 2021

Geoff passed suddenly November 4 2021. He was predeceased by his father Calvin E Pepler. He leaves behind his mother Audrey, his sisters Dawn (Joe) Barbieri, Sandra Pepler (Mark Bartlett) and nephews Daniel and Anthony.

Geoff came to his career late in life, captaining a boat. Something he loved. He had been introduced to a life by water at an early age through the family cottage. Later renting and steering a house boat through the trent waterways while on vacation through his twenties. A trip he would repeat when he bought his own boat.

He had a natural aptitude for fixing and creating anything. He often spent hours sketching and working out problems. His first project was building a pool table at age 14, to his parents surprise when they had to find room for it at the end of the school year.

Geoff lived life on his terms. R.I.P

In lieu of flowers donations can be made to Sunnybrook Foundation Veterans Wing <https://sunnybrook.ca/foundation/> or NAFMC Foundation <https://www.naf>

mcfoundation.com/

Tribute Wall

JH

“ I was in the same 8th grade woodshop class at Donview Heights Junior High School when Geoff built that pool table. He exuded style, even at 14. He then played Prince Simon to the ravishing Suzanne Pelletier's Princess Camilla in Mr Henry's English class production of AA Milne's 'The Ugly Duckling', and even got to kiss her! I played her father, the henpecked King and certainly DIDN'T get to kiss her. I wonder if old Geoff is somewhere advising Jason and the Argonauts about navigation, Ulysses on how to shorten a 10-year voyage, and casually steering the Titanic around the iceberg. I certainly wouldn't put any of these things past him.

Jonathan Hartman - February 10, 2025 at 07:04 PM

RB

“ God bless this wonderful family. My heart broke when I heard the story from his sister, Sandy. Rest in peace, Geoffrey.

Ron Barr - November 15, 2021 at 07:21 PM