George I am really glad we touch base and reminisced about the Good Old Gifford Days. Thanks for always having our backs. You gave each youth a good fight because you believed in them, through that you taught us your staff to have a good fight and believe in ourselves. Thank you my fellow director and friend. May you now rest in peace.

“ I met George in 2013 when Deanna offered me some work that she wanted done around the house. With him not feeling up to it I didn't expect to see much of George and I could tell he wasn't in shape for doing anything too strenuous.

One thing he wanted was to try the Over the Air TV antennas to see what stations he could get so we went and picked up what was needed. While setting this up George wanted to help and the next thing I knew he was up on the roof with me. As anyone who has done that sort of work knows, it is not something most people can do while in the best of health.

One of the last things he asked me to help with was cleaning out his garage and I was happy to oblige considering his plans to renovate the space. In the process George went through the stuff he didn't want to keep and when I went over I was surprised at the mound of things he was getting rid of for the landfill. I thought it might take two trips but we managed to get it all in one shot. We loaded it all up and George was pitching things into my truck like he had regained plenty of strength. It was impressive considering how he must have felt.

One of the items George was parting with was a heavy duty Milwaukee cordless drill that just needed batteries. He even told me where I could find them if I wanted to keep it for myself. After I finally found a set of batteries, it turned out to be one of my go to tools for my business and proved to be invaluable. I still use it now and then when needed and it reminds me of both George and those busy business days.

More so, I saw him as a fighter that didn't give up easily, courageous and staying positive throughout the ordeal. Rest in Peace George.

Respectfully,

Mark Pellow
