“ *Something Beautiful Remains
The tide recedes but leaves behind
bright seashells on the sand.
The sun goes down, but gentle
warmth still lingers on the land.
The music stops, and yet it echoes
Something Beautiful Remains
The tide recedes but leaves behind
bright seashells on the sand.
The sun goes down, but gentle
warmth still lingers on the land.
The music stops, and yet it echoes
on in sweet refrains.....
For every joy that passes,
something beautiful remains.

“ My favourite memory is when I would come into Toronto for work, and Harry and I would go out to lunch together. He never talked much about himself, but was always interested in how other's were doing.

As other's have said, he cared about my mom very much! I remember, several years ago, picking him up to go to my mom's for a family gathering. He asked me to stop at a store so he could buy a lawnmower for her as a surprise.

I also remember his great hugs! I will miss him.

“ Harry was a generous and caring man. He always found a smile to share and a genuine manner that endeared you to him. Harry... I will miss talking with you. Rest In Peace.

“ The Dash
by Linda Ellis copyright 1996

*I read of a man who stood to speak
at the funeral of a friend.
He referred to the dates on the tombstone
from the beginning...to the end.*

*He noted that first came the date of birth
and spoke the following date with tears,
but he said what mattered most of all
was the dash between those years.*

*For that dash represents all the time
that they spent alive on earth.
And now only those who loved them
know what that little line is worth.*

*For it matters not, how much we own,
the cars...the house...the cash.
What matters is how we live and love
and how we spend our dash.*

*So, think about this long and hard.
Are there things you'd like to change?
For you never know how much time is left
that can still be rearranged.*

*If we could just slow down enough
to consider what's true and real
and always try to understand
the way other people feel.*

*And be less quick to anger
and show appreciation more
and love the people in our lives*

like we've never loved before.

*If we treat each other with respect
and more often wear a smile,
remembering that this special dash
might only last a little while.*

*So, when your eulogy is being read,
with your life's actions to rehash...
would you be proud of the things they say
about how you spent YOUR dash?*

*Over the last few days so much has been mentioned to my mom
and I about Harry...*

- "He always treated us good"
- "He was always a gentleman"
- "He always had something nice to say"

*For me...my 2 dashes are
He loved to be challenged – when you stood up for yourself – took him on
But most importantlywhen it comes to my mom....*

He treated her well – with kindness – compassion and love...he made her feel important and loved." It was only recently I told him how important that was to me...thank you for making my mom feel special.

You will be missed
