“ Everyday I think of you. This past year has been one of the most difficult for me knowing I can no longer speak with you, make plans to see Iron Maiden again, or be a part of each other's life.

Moving forward I will try my very best to smile when thinking of you and to cherish the memories I have. Miss you terribly brother. I love you.

I'm so sorry ingmar. I often thought of you and the fond memories we shared.

I remember when you first got to Holy Redeemer school, with those shiny new kodiacs both you and Hogar. I also remember your amazing drawings, I remember walking to your house from school one day with you it was quite the hike but I remember we got to know each other better even though our time together was brief a couple of years i never forgot you.i remember how talented you were.i came across your obituary and it broke my heart i was talking to wife reminiscing and I mentioned you because we were discussing unique names to our surprise my wife said your name into the phone as i tried to find you on Facebook when she beat me to it pulling your obituary up when she showed me the photo my heart dropped. I am so sorry that we didn't remain in touch i hope you had a wonderful life ,I hope you didn't suffer brother and I hope your surrounded with alot of love & peace and Rock & Roll RIP my old friend.

Igmar you were always there, loving spiders 🕷 or not I was always your friend. I was shocked to realize that we had gone this long without talking. I have been real sick dealing with my own personal struggles.

You will always be a part of my memories.

Peace little brother!

I am very sorry to learn about Ingmar. In the 1980's, I had worked with his dad, Henry, and came to meet Ingmar a couple of times, along with Holgar.

I miss Ingmar. He was a friend to me when I needed one, asking for nothing in return but the sharing of humor and music.

Rest In Peace, my friend.
