“ I don't know if you'll see this Trisha but I want you to know that Joan was my everything. I am Paul's sister Heather. We met when I was six years old. Every time I went to visit them I learned how to cook and clean up the kitchen afterward and we watched scary movies together. She was a big sister to me. From boyfriend fail to my wedding. Joan was the most influential woman in my life. I miss her every day. I tried to find her and call her but I couldn't. I remember she had lumps in her breasts. I remember when she was raped. I was a teenager. I remember when you had your children and how excited she was and I knew that I was less important then but that was OK. I remember our last conversation which was about Paul not doing well and I think because I said I needed to stand by him she felt it was a betrayal. That's why I tried to reach her to tell her how much I love her and that it wasn't that way at all.

I have three children of my own right now and I would've loved for them to meet her. I talk about her to them all the time.
