John Dallas Campbell

October 23, 1970 - August 20, 2022

Dallas always believed “Live life today, not tomorrow” and because of this he led a full and adventurous life. He made friends everywhere he went and had a great sense of humor.

He will be sadly missed by his family, as well as all the many friends he has made over the years.

Dallas was always firm on his “no funeral, no service” wishes, so I encourage everyone who is missing him to gather with your family and friends, raise a glass and remember the good times you shared with Dallas.

While he was taken from us too soon, we take comfort in knowing he has finally found the peace he always sought in life.

“ Hey buddy,

It's been one year since your departure from this little planet of ours. I miss you and think of you everyday. Life has not been easy without ya! Miss the good old times and brewskis we shared. Missed going out and getting silly together and being Dumd & Dumber always!!

Just thinking about ya and missing ya.

This will be my last message on here, till I join you one daybut not yet! I still got lots to do.... I will make sure to live some great days for you buddy!!

Till I join you one day Dallasbut not yet, not yet!

Cheers!

“ Yo buddyHAPPY BIRTHDAY!

Today would have been your 51st birthday. Happy birthday Dumber!! haha 🎂

Went to the Playground yesterday in Montreal to play poker. Wish you could have been there with us. I'm sure you would have crushed it! Funny enough while playing poker, I was watching the "Dallas" Stars win against the Montreal Canadiens last night, I was like hmmm 🤔

Miss ya tons little buddy and always thinking of you!!

Cheers and Happy Birthday Dallas! 🍻

“ Dallas,

I miss you. My heart hurts. I am empty. It's been 30 days since hearing your voice and I still cannot believe this is real, that you are gone. It has taken this long to face reality, to find the courage to write this to you, it just seems so final. I will miss your face, your smile, your laugh, but most of all I will miss your humanity and kindness. You have touched so many lives, you are a beautiful soul, and you've made the world a better place.

You are my Scrabble buddy, my BCS mate, my endless love, I hope they have cherry slushies in heaven.

Our happily ever after was just beginning... our story has not ended, so until I see you again, just remember - George Bailey, I'll love you till the day I die.

A Flower for You

*Ask if I will miss you, if I shall reminisce
Within this poem is the answer, for I do promise this*

*Whenever near the water, underneath a red sunset
I shall perform this task, to prove I won't forget*

*I will pick a wild flower covered with evening dew
Place it on the water and send it off to you*

*So that love will guide it as it drifts towards the sea
I will bless it on its journey with words of poetry*

*I will send it on this journey, to fulfill one fantasy
That when you do find it, you will think of me*

*It will cover endless miles, over countless brooks and streams
To serve as a reminder, that you're always in my dreams*

So late one summers evening as you're walking on heaven's beach

If a crashing wave beside you places a flower within your reach

*Know it is a token that rests there at your feet
Proof of love unbroken, its journey now complete*

*All my love,
Penny*

“ I've known John Dallas (or as I called him "Johnny Cisco") for the past 10 years.

Can't believe he is gone...

John you were the most fun person I knew. There was never a conversation we had when I wasn't cracking up. I also really enjoyed playing poker with you, especially when I would make a dumb move, and you would make all the right moves, just so I could get lucky on the river. (I think I purposely played bad just to annoy you...)

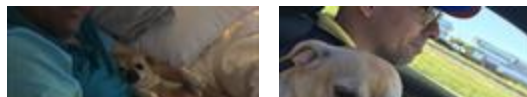

You always had the craziest stories - it was never a dull moment with you. I was going to Toronto in a couple weeks and looking forward to stopping by and grabbing breakfast at Jimmy's with you...

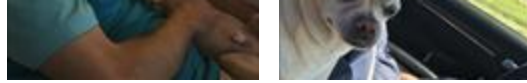

You also were nice enough to invite me to some amazing work events. I got to sit in a corporate box suite at the Bell Center and join you on a great road trip to Halifax.

You were also a troublemaker (hahahaha) but anytime we got upset with each other (for 10 million reasons LOL) we right away got over it and were back to being buds. Only YOU could have pulled the stuff you did and still have me laughing and wanting to go for beers. Anyone else I would have been FURIOUS with. But same for you - you put up with my craziness too.

The last thing I want to mention here is that you loved animals, and were the greatest dad to Niko. You also were there for me when I lost my pet, you were one of the few people to call me to check on him when he was sick. I want to share a couple photos of you and your boy.

Take care Cisco and see you on the other side!

“ Johnny boy,

Still processing the fact that you have left us. It is never easy losing a good friend who had such a huge heart, was so giving, and maintained a great sense of spirit no matter what challenge presented itself. I recognize the last year of your life was certainly not easy and you were making the best of your environment. So many of us were rooting for you to continue living an adventure-filled life but alas it was not to be.

We shared so many great memories predominantly in sportive based activities: golf, tennis, skiing. A number of "business" lunches downtown Montreal.

You are truly one of a kind with such a love of life, great smile, and sense of humour.

You will definitely be missed but not forgotten.

Rest in Peace my dear friend.

“ Hey Dallas,

My broskie! Can't believe you are gone.

Feels like a really bad dream, and I keep staring at my phone looking at your name still from my last text messages with youthinking I will receive a text message from you any day now. #IWish Ugh!!! It's been really tough....

I've known you for 25 years and you were my best bud and my wingman. I feel lost without my wingman.

All the good times, crazy chats and unbelievable fun goofy times we had together. Omg ...the memories. We were really smart guys ...but for some reason when you and I got together, we became "Dumb & Dumber" (D&D). I still don't know which one of us was Dumber. Seriously. You were my Harry ...I was your Lloyd. That will never stop....

We met on one fine day of skiing. It was a corporate event for the company. I was leaving the company, and you were taking my spot, job and even my DESK!! Being the D&D Team that we were, we almost didn't make it back that day, as we almost missed the bus ride home with the company as we were running towards the bus throwing our stuff in the air to hope they would see usand lucky for us, one person did. That would have been a hell of a taxi ride back home with our ski equipment and the 3 hour taxi fare. Dooooope!!

When I was a photographer, I remember you coming on one of my shoots to Cuba and the fun times you had helping me as my "Reflector Boy" for the shoot and gazing at the sexy ladies ...was just priceless!!! Dallas you were the ladies man. They loved your gentle social flair and fun personality. I would add some more details in here but some are better left between us, cause they are kinda juicy. Ohhhh Dallas! (shaking my head)

I remember too when we went skiing one day, and we were staying overnight and we had bought this cheap blow up mattress for an extra bedand for some reason our D&D kicked in again, and it took us like 3 hours to blow up the mattress with our mouthsonly to find out there was a pump inside the box that the air mattress came in andand we were like, what is this thing?? (weird piece of equipment)come to know after our lungs hurting and mouths sooooo tired, it was the actual pump to blow up the cheap mattress. Oooopsies. We both looked soooo stupid. But we laughed!!!! It was us....

Sucks I won't ever be able to play poker with you again. I always was the BETTER player!!! Haha - Honestly I can't believe that on a couple of times, you actually cleaned me out $$$$$. Wow you had no friends in poker. Really. I was happy to lose that $$$ to you. You were the better man!

I hope to reunite with my "Harry" someday. Perhaps have some good brewskies and great chats again, play some poker, and being D&D all over again.

ps: Don't hit on too many ladies up there will ya!!! Sheeeesh. Always a ladies man.....

I miss you every day Dallas! (aka: Harry)

*Your wingman,
Serge (aka: Lloyd)*

Serge - September 14, 2022 at 01:57 PM

Hey Serge. Dal loved you so much, you were his ride or die, the ying to his yang, Loyd to his Harry. He told me so many stories about the two of you. I am so glad he had you as his best friend. I remember when you "abducted" him from the hospital and took him out for lunch... he sent me a picture that I imposed Lloyd and Harry's heads on... I will post it. He was cracking up. God I miss his laugh. Take care Serge - Penny

“ Dal,

I still cannot believe this is real. Saying goodbye to you has been one of the hardest times in my life. We shared such an amazing bond from the first day we met back when I was 11 years old. I am so glad you found your biological side of your family or I may have never met my best friend. No matter what was happening in life or the people who disappointed us, we could always turn to each other. We could be ourselves and tell each other anything. ANYTHING. Without judgement.

Over the years we shared so many memories. I will cherish them forever.

You also meant the world to my son. Rocco truly LOVED you. Even when he found out your real name wasn't Dallas. He laughed so hard finding out it was John. He would bug you every phone call "well hello John Campbell" oh we all laughed so hard about that one.

Ill never forget our trip to the mountains. You taking a million pictures of the same mountain. We laughed "Dal, this is still the same mountain just the other side" haha

We got to walk up the mountain side to the water fall, you were not impressed how far it was. HAHAHA. Tricked ya.

Rocco had the best time climbing the trees and rocks with you. Even when you were scared of us walking the trees over the River.

Another favourite memory is when you drove all the way out to our farm to be present at Charlie's big first birthday. We got to introduce you to the cows and pigs, yes, we got Dallas on farm with cows and pigs! And he had fun! Go figure. Haha

You wanted to try and shoot skeet's with the shot gun so bad. So

Cecil got everything out and ready for us.... Until your first shot kicked you back so hard and you told me "why the hell would you let me do this?!" Hahaha oh we laughed all the time.

We truly had a bond that no one could take from us. I keep all your letters and gifts close to me. I read them over and over.

Rocco has grown very attached to his 11:11 necklace and he's broken down a few times at school.

We miss you. We all do. We were not ready to let you go.

We will carry on your memory forever in our hearts and I will keep you alive within our home.

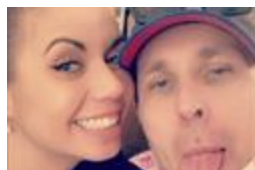

I have so much more life I wanted to have you apart of. But I know in my heart you will watch over my family forever. I truly am heartbroken you never got the chance to meet Alex. We talked every single day throughout my whole pregnancy.

Oh Dal. I could never replace you.

I am truly heartbroken. Its not goodbye, its until we meet again. Until then save a seat for me at the poker table up there with an ice cold Budweiser.

I love you.
