

Mr. John Lewis Surginor

November 4, 2013

John was born in Paisley, Scotland where he met and married his wife Mary. They then came to Canada after the War and made their home in Toronto. Although they'd no children of their own they delighted in the rich and long lasting friendships they made and in the vibrancy of the music scene in Toronto. John's working life was at Sun Life of Canada and Mutual of Omaha but his real passion was music. He was an accomplished Jazz pianist and as he lived in the same apartment for over 50 years his neighbours knew him as "the piano man". Mary died in her early 40's but music sustained John and as he was blessed with good health he was able to keep playing into his 80's when he'd entertain at Seniors homes. To borrow from one his favourite pieces of music, Stardust by Nat King Cole "And now the purple dusk of twilight time has come". John leaves precious memories in our hearts His Godchildren: Richard Gray, Paul Gray and Pat Webb.
