

Joseph Dorman Blandford

January 21, 2023

Joseph Dorman Blandford born: April 2, 1939 died January 21, 2023. Joseph was born on a small, beautiful island on Newfoundland's east coast called Herring Neck. His parents predeceased George and Annie (Boyle) Blandford, and infant brother Victor. Orphaned at the age of 11, Joseph was raised lovingly by his Aunt Ida and cousin Mildred until he was old enough to move to Toronto and start his adult life. He loved the city's busy downtown and enjoyed his active membership with the Orange Lodge where he advanced through the ranks of leadership and spent many dedicated years of service. He was grateful and generous to others, and enjoyed lots of fun, as well as, quiet time with his favourite books, radio and TV programs. He was passionate about current events and politics, and loved a good friendly debate with family and friends.

Rest in peace, Joseph.
