You came by me just before I built my garage , became a customer , and then a damn good friend . We shared our lives with each other . The good and the not so good stuff . You trusted me Keats . And then , we became very close . I admire your determination to stay straight within your recovery program . We are both critical guys when it is justified . But we love life . You are in my very small circle of "friends" . You are respected , you are loved as a man can "love" another man . I will always remember our discussions . Keats, I will miss you terribly. I won't be far behind you my brother . Rest easy my dear friend . Love ya bro .
