

Linsey A. Bell

December 17, 2024

Linsey A. Bell peacefully passed away on December 17, 2024, at 59. She was predeceased by her father, Ian Bell; and brother, Steven Bell. Linsey is survived by her loving husband, John Doherty; children, Andrew Brie and Katherine (Ryan) Brie; granddaughter, Ruby Davis; and mother, Irene Bell. Her memory lives on with all who knew her.

Linsey was a woman of honesty and fierce determination. She had a way of coming on strong, leaving an impression on everyone she met. Her steadfast nature and unwavering beliefs shaped who she was, and she was never afraid to speak her mind.

Her adventurous heart, which began in Scotland, led her to explore many different lives, eventually bringing her to Canada. It was here that she built a family, raising two wonderful children, and later found her soulmate, John. Together, Linsey and John became a force to be reckoned with, known for tearing up the dance floor wherever they went.

Though she fought hard, Linsey's battle with pancreatic cancer was brief. She passed away peacefully in the hospital, surrounded by her loved ones, who held her hand until the very end.

Linsey's memory will live on in the stories of her life, the love she shared, and the lasting impact she made on everyone lucky enough to know her. She was truly one of a kind. Rest in peace, Linsey. You will always be remembered.

A Wake will be held at The Kingston House on Sunday December 29th from 3 to 6. Food, beer, and wine will be served. <https://maps.app.goo.gl/4iExDho5tw124ak48>

“ I’ve been feeling sad about Linsey’s sudden passing last month. My condolences are for her family about the sudden loss during the Christmas season. I’ve been keeping her in my thoughts, and prayers. Even though I’ve never worked with her at Home Depot because I’ve been working at the service desk for almost 4 years, I’ve missed seeing her beautiful smile when she passed by my department at the store. Rest in peace with all the angels above. R.I.P.!
