“ When I graduated from Queens Nana came to the ceremony and to a party at the Tirnanog pub afterwards. Around 9pm a band started playing. At 10pm, the bouncer came over to me and asked "would you please tell your grandmother to stop dancing on the pub chairs? She keeps standing on the chairs!" I told him to go to her himself, which he tried but she charmed him away and stayed until midnight partying with me and all my friends. She was 80 years old that year!!!!
