Margaret Therese Fisher (nee JOYCE)

Margaret Therese Fisher passed away peacefully on January 16th 2025 surrounded by her family. She is predeceased by her parents Isabelle and Alfred, her sister Marie, her twin brother Fred, her husbands Gordon Fisher and Larry Brown, and her daughter in law Cyndy. She is survived by her sons Dan and David, her daughter Laura, daughters-in-law Nancy and Yvonne, her favourite nephew Chris, and her grandchildren Katie, Mitchell, Sophie, and Helen.

Margaret grew up in Port Credit, where as a young girl she had a paper route (or rather, pulled her brother in a wagon along his paper route) and played basketball as the tallest girl in her class. After graduating, she got her own apartment and met her roommate turned sister Fran. Margaret's career included working at several medical offices, notably Sunnybrook Hospital, where she was on the telemedicine pilot team in the 70s and 80s. After long work weeks, she would travel up north with her family to go skiing in Beaver Valley.

"She was a great old broad," perfectly characterized by her close friend Annie. Marg gave generously to those around her; cooking and driving a weeks worth of meals to her parents as they were aging, looking after her young grandkids, then her brother, and frequently calling close friends and relatives to chat and check in. She was always quick to make a friend - even at the hospital she joked with all the doctors and was described by her nurse London as the “favourite on the floor.”

From starring in a Maxwell House coffee commercial with Ricardo Montalban to enjoying her RV vacations, Marg lived a truly full life. She loved to complete the daily crossword, use her thesauruses to teach her grandchildren fancy medical terminology like “micturition” (urination), and may have been known to enjoy a good grape-based beverage. Her magnanimous heart, sharp wit, and outstanding storytelling skills made her everybody’s favourite person to be around. Marg is missed deeply by her family, friends, and the sales department at The Shopping Channel.

Celebration of life will be held at a later time.
