“ Matti, you made your transition from physical to non-physical so quickly. But this I know, relationships are eternal. And I count you as a major player, on my team, in this unceasing adventure that we're upon.

“ I knew Matti through my sister Sharon. She was always smiling and welcoming and generous. I liked her very much. Enjoy your new non-physical state Matti! We'll miss you!

“ I shall miss Matti, I shall miss her phone calls asking if I have time for a coffee, I shall miss bumping into her as I walked down the street, I shall miss her very distinctive laugh. Matti was a perfectionist - whatever she turned her hand to she did well including writing, fine art painting and sculpture, photography, knitting, sewing oh, and running her own business. She wasn't a braggart but she was a wonderful raconteur; you couldn't sit with Matti for any length of time without thinking "You did what?! I had no idea!" as she slipped a little tidbit of information about herself into the conversation. She always found it amusing that others were impressed with things she'd done.

Matti had no time for fools, thoughtless people, judgmental people or poseurs. She was big on social justice and walked gently on the earth.

Now Matti is becoming stardust which seems only fitting.

“ I was very saddened to hear this news. I haven't been in touch with Matti for a long, long time and regret that very much now. We worked together for several years at the Canadian Film Institute in Ottawa in the 80s. Apart from her regular duties at CFI, Matti was a great cook and often catered the small receptions we had when various guest filmmakers were in town. She was such a kind, good soul and was much loved by those of us who worked with her. I can still hear her laughter. To her family, my deepest condolences.

“ I was a client of Matti's, and am so going to miss our little monthly email exchanges! We never met in person, but I knew she was lovely from our interactions. My heart goes out to all who knew her and who will be missing her.
