

Pauline Nicholls

January 13, 2024

Our beloved Ti passed away peacefully on January 13, 2024.

Ti lived a full life with dignity, and left this world as she wished, asleep in bed in her own house. She is deeply mourned by Scott and Eugenia, who she called her “guardian angels” for their love and care for her for many years.

Smart as a tack to the end, Ti enjoyed the shared love and laughter of family visits, good food and a glass of wine with music, and occasionally cookies and ice cream.

Pauline’s father Godfrey Nicholls was a trainer for the Royal Canadian Air Force, and after her early life in Toronto she spent her formative years in Medicine Hat, Alberta. After her father and mother Marjorie relocated to Toronto she attended the Ontario College of Art. On graduation she was hired by the CBC and spent her career as a graphic artist, costumer and milliner at CBC Television working on headline shows such as “King of Kensington”.

Pauline travelled widely throughout Canada and beyond, with a special highlight being her trip to Japan in 1970. She retired in 1989 to a quiet life of gardening and Buddhist contemplation. Pauline had no children but was a longtime sponsor of Foster Child Plan International.

At Pauline Nicholl's request there will be no ceremony or flowers.
