“ My sincere condolences to Phil's brothers and extended families. It has been my pleasure to know Phil going back over 30 years to our old work location on Brock Street in Whitby where he worked with us for many years and several moves! We remained friends after his retirement and would meet monthly to chat and do errands. I will miss our visits. You're already missed. Rest in Peace. (A donation has been made in Phil's honour to The Heart and Stroke Foundation).

“ You were born in the difficult times of post war France but your first 5 years were comfortable. You had your parents full attention, you had extended family, you had community. Most of us can't imagine leaving to a pioneering region of new country without supports. Brother I can't understand the impact that had on your immediate and future life. Despite or because of the challenges you became a strong individual that any younger brother would want to emulate. Thank you for paving the way. If I have any regret , its that I never communicated my appreciation for your leadership. RIP brother.

Phil, You and I came into each others lives when we both needed it most and Our friendship was an extraordinary gift that I will always cherish. I loved our daily conversations about your meal struggles and I looked forward to our occasional day trips. I was also really excited to see you put your ship together. Phil, you may have come off as a hard guy but your compassion and care for the people around you is unbelievable. You made a difference in my life and I will never forget you. Phil you will always have a special place in my heart. Rest in peace ❤️

I miss Phil because we never got together to reminisce about that very last day we had of high school, out behind the school woodworking shop. Just the two of us, on the grass, in the beautiful summer sun. It was a special moment for me, and he was part of it. I wanted to learn about our thoughts as we looked back 60 years on that moment, but it was not to be.
