He was the best. He is who I remember when I think of high school. He made appreciate history and he got me through Man in Society. He is a big part of who I am today. God Bless you Mr, Dick

He was a good one for sure. He was my History and Man In Society teacher too. I didn't do all that well in High School, but I was pretty good in History and Man In Society thanks to Mr.Dick. Thanks and RIP Jim Flint “ Yearbooks and pancake breakfasts...Back 40.....slide shows...spirit assemblies.....lover of life and all creatures great and small. He was a family man always...gentle and caring...quick with the praise and soft on criticism. He loved critical thinking.....always asking why...so you had to dig deeper.
