“ We are so sorry for your loss and have been grieving this past week. Most of us have to work 10 times as hard to be half as kind as Uncle Rob. He taught us so many life lessons. Things like: How to find the humour in anything, the importance of being on time, following through, doing it yourself, keeping it simple, not holding a grudge, being selfless, listening to others, and of course... the most important... the amount of time it should take for a shower. These lessons stay with us and we pass them on to our children as well.

We love you so much Uncle Rob. You were a light that outshined any dark. What a gift to the world you were.
