“ I am so sad that we will not celebrate Christmas with you, Mom, as we had planned. At the same time, I am comforted by the fact that you left us the way you had hoped: quickly and without suffering.

What a wonderful, long life you enjoyed. I think that, when you were ready to leave us, Lyle was waiting for you at the other side of the rainbow bridge, jiggling his car keys and saying "it's time to go, Shirl!"

For a woman fond of describing herself as "mean as a snake", you showed me your gentler side, and I will be forever grateful for our special relationship! How proud you always were when we were out shopping and folks thought you were my mother.

Love you, Mom, and I will miss you very much. Happy journeys with Lyle, your brothers, and other family members and friends!

Your "daughter", Angela
