“ He was my father. And I love him very much. Very very much he wasn't like everybody else's father in the least. But he was a father and I love him. He tried and a lot of things didn't go his way or on our way but they went. I love hearing all the stories that people in the neighborhood saying how good of a hockey player and sports player he was. I know all the women say how good looking of a hunk he was LOL. Even to this day when I see someone that knows Us in the family they always say how much they love my dad and how great of a guy he was. I miss you dad everyday. Take care of grandma and grandpa up there. It's your turn

No words can express the sadness I felt when I heard of Billy's passing. I only found out last year and I was not only shocked, but deeply saddened. Billy and I went to school together and we were inseparable. Like two love struck teens we had big dreams and plans for when we left school. Unfortunately, life happened and we gradually drifted apart. I often thought of him over the years. He was an amazing athlete. There wasn't a sport he wasn't good at. He was a natural. I wished our paths would have crossed again if only just to say hello, how are you. I will always remember how handsome he was with that great smile. Billy, I hope you're still smiling. Who knows, perhaps we will, meet again. Rest in peace Billy, and know that you were loved by so many people. Everyone misses you.
