“ *Memories.. May be beautiful and yet
What's too painful to remember.. We simply choose to forget
So it's the laughter.. We will remember
Whenever we remember.. The way you were “ My library has been around all my life.

My library was a strong well-built structure with a deep foundation. Always standing with pride, honor and willing to stand up to all the elements with determination, perseverance, and stubbornness. A building that I appreciated, always standing with loads of character and one I always looked up to.

The contents of that library were loaded with books and stories. Some happy: some sad; some good; and some bad.

There were books and stories of family and friends, books of foreign war and death, domestic battles, some won and some lost.

There were books on agriculture, food and drink, cooking, preserving and eating.

There were books and stories of cops and robbers, good guys and bad guy.

There were how to do books, Reno's, repairs, and color matching books.

Books and stories of jobs, service, honour and pride

Books of travel, investments and stock marketing

Books and stories of laughter, music, good times and good cheer

Maybe I didn't visit my library on a regular basis and maybe I didn't read all the books and stories but when I did visit my library those big doors were always open and willing for entry unconditionally any time.

My library always had a lot to say.

A characteristic I wouldn't change in anyway.

I can still look up to it, I guess, in a different way.

A big tall structure with large doors sometimes hard to sway

but those doors will always be open for me to enter, frolic and play.

Love Will

“ Bill. My memories of you are many. You always had an eye out for me when I began dating. You made sure my dates measured up to be gentlemen.

You loved music and did a great polka.

Doing chin-ups on your home made chin-up bar was part of your exercise routine. Your Y.M.C.A trips ended with your favourite lemon pie that you always wanted me to make.

Your memory was amazing, your sense of humour was very sharp and unique.

You appreciated most people that you had contact with and befriended many.

You're helping on the farm was certainly appreciated and an excellent way of visiting.

You were very talented, from building any thing to fixing computers. You had a curious mind for learning and were proud of your achievements.

You certainly had a gift of gab. An hour plus was usually phone time.

We had a funny thing going about who is going to win the race.

YOU won it Bill and I don't think it funny anymore. It is hard.

Rest in Peace dear brother

Lovingly,

Your little sister

Helen

“ Bill you showed me what it is to be a man of conviction and I learned so much from you. My memories of the two of us demolishing my old deck and rebuilding it will live with me forever. Who knew that you could incinerate an entire 10'x20' wooden deck in a barbecue! We had so many great times and I only wish that we could have been closer in your later years. I know that I would have learned so much more from you.

Rest in peace Bill

“ You taught me how to drive a tractor through the orchards at the farm, proudly teaching me how to drive. When you backed your car up with precision & skill, you always said with a snicker "just like it had eyes". Now your eyes are closed forever and mine are very sad. Rest in peace Dad.
